

Tri-City Health Center

Is pleased to offer low-cost medical screening for patients with diabetes. Using new digital cameras funded by the California Health Care Foundation, TCHC medical staff photographs the retinas of their diabetic patients and transmit them to UC Berkeley for review by off-site optometrists and ophthalmologists. The eye exam is an important screening technique that can help to prevent blindness in diabetic patients.